Mine Group Asking Revision In Tax Laws

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21—The necessity for removing the existing tax roadblocks to needed expenditures for exploration in the mining industry was emphasized at a House Ways and Means hearing today by Lincoln Arnold, chairman of the Tax Committee of the American Mining Congress, a national organization representing all branches of the mining industry.

Arnold pointed out that under current law a mining company may deduct exploration expenses only to the extent of $100,000 per year, and that this restriction is causing the mining industry to lag behind the nation's needs for new discoveries. He also pointed out that present law limits such deductions for exploration by any taxpayer to four years only, and that since this provision has now been in effect for seven years, most mining companies no longer are allowed to deduct any exploration expenditures.

"Through the operation of the tax laws, the United States Government, the State Governments and the local taxing bodies have an extremely high interest in the successful discovery of mineral deposits.

Prior to going to Transylvania College, Miss Stout attended Hazard Grade Schools and Napier High School studying speech there. Her first public appearance was in the annual Kiwanis Speech contest as well as in regional and state festivals. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stout of Hazard.

Wooten said contractors to repair the bridge have informed him they will start the work once the weather breaks.

The city manager has asked that persons walking across the bridge use the sidewalk and not the roadbed. He said that while the roadbed recently underwent minor repairs, he still considers it unsafe for use.

Equitable Tax Treatment Asked For Coal Industry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—The National Coal Association reminded Congress today that coal is essential to the nation's strength even in the missile age, and urged more equitable tax treatment for America's basic fuel.

Otto Gressens of Chicago, executive vice president of Peabody Coal Co. and chairman of NCA's tax committee, urged that the depletion rate for coal be raised from the present 10 per cent to at least 15 per cent.

Mr. Gressens said the increased tax deduction would enable the coal industry to set aside funds for opening new mines as present diggings are worked out. Future demands for energy will require even greater coal production, he said.

Mr. Gressens' statement, prepared for delivery to the House Ways and Means Committee in hearings on tax revision, also spoke for the American Coal Sales Association, The Anthracite Institute and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. The National Coal Association represents producers who mine more than two-thirds of the nation's bituminous coal.

Coal has had a 10 per cent depletion rate since 1951, while producers of such minerals as granite, slate and fire clay receive 15 per cent, Mr. Gressens said. Coal's direct competitors, oil and gas, receive 27½ per cent. He made clear, however, that the coal industry does not want to lower the rates granted its competitors—it only wants more equitable treatment for itself.

Though the nation's coal reserves will last hundreds of years, present mines will be worked out and must be replaced—and the replacement cost has climbed from $3 a ton of annual capacity in 1946 to near $10 today, Mr. Gressens said.

Authorities predict that by 1975 the demand for coal will increase 50 per cent, he said, to 750 million tons per year.

"It will take a tremendous investment to finance this expanded capacity," Mr. Gressens testified. "An increase in the depletion allowance to a more equitable rate would be helpful in making the necessary reserves of capital available."

Mr. Gressens said NCA also recommended four other changes in revenue laws: Removing the limitations on the deductions of exploration expenditures, now limited to $100,000 annually for four years.

Simplifying the computation of "taxable income from the property" by excluding items not directly related to production of income from the mining property.

Repealing the two per cent tax on the filing of consolidated returns.

Repealing the tax on intercorporate dividends.

Request Made For Information On Early Founders of This Region

W. C. Begley

As this is being written, Fellen Campbell who resides at 734 Hinman Avenue, Evanston, Ill., is gathering information in the preparation of the MS. of his book, "Life in The Kentucky Hills," which is scheduled to be published in 1959. Mr. Campbell, the author, is a native of the Kentucky hills. Looking backward about 150 years, the book will tell a true story of HOW and WHY the people lived as they did in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

The Hazard Herald of December 6, 1957 in its write-up, "New Book On Kentucky Hills Scheduled For 1959," says:

"Mr. Campbell welcomes information, either from memory of individuals or from records, including old pictures, marriages, birth and death dates of early settlers, land titles, unusual characters, funerals, health, medicine and sanitation, habits, old customs, social activities, music, superstitions, court trials, politics, wars, feuds; true stories of incidents, recreation, kinds of work to earn a livelihood, and the things used in every-day life. Other items and elements of life will be included in the book, but too numerous to mention here.

"Contributors of materials used in the book will be given appropriate courtesy acknowledgment if they so desire."

As indicated, there are many topics pertinent to "Life in The Kentucky Hills" to write about; certainly there are many in this area with valuable experience and good information to impart. Consequently, many readers of The Hazard Herald (new and old) may well be delighted to offer potential articles and other items they consider appropriate for Mr. Campbell's book. Sometimes successful authors will reveal a real enthusiasm for the work of a friend. It's an unusual opportunity to be of great help in gathering information which has never been published in any form and should be recorded.

Finally, I shall convey my piece simply and in equally small space.

Riding across this great country from the east coast to the west in the easy comfort of a Pullman coach or by first class train, I never cease to admire the courage of those hardy pioneers who first made the journey. Had I been called upon to make the same trip then, I often wonder whether I should have been equal to the occasion. I am inclined to was peace concluded between them.

Thus the pioneer pursued his way westward and northward, fighting and marrying and building. He mastered nature and himself, and he built from a wilderness the beginnings of a great union of states. Later in his path came the stagecoach and the mounted express; then the engineer and the division gang laying the first railroad line. But he broke the way which everybody else has followed, even unto the modern generation, for our automobile roads but follow the old trails blazed by the pioneer.

It is an oft-related story, this history of our early founders, but we are so engaged today in the problems of a newer age that we tend to forget. It is a story exceeded by none in all history for sheer courage and industry. We may not be called upon in this age to endure and to achieve as they did, but we can at least remember and take inspiration from their example.

The early founders stand out in our memory. Later there were others who inconspicuously performed deeds worthy of special recognition. To them we apologize for our failure in many instances to observe their conduct and for not singling them out. Their reward, if they

Problem of Ten Mile Road Should Concern Businessmen of Hazard

Fred W. Luigart Jr.

We have an interesting letter in today's Herald. From Sophia Mullins, of Ten Mile comes word that the condition of the road there is such that residents cannot go to work or to school. Seems the winter weather has put the road in rough condition.

She has asked that the county do something about the road.

As our suggestion, we'd like to ask the businessmen of Hazard to read her letter. Why? The condition of the Ten Mile Road is as much our problem as it is that of the residents—you see, if they can't get out for work and school—they can't get out to shop. The lifeblood of Hazard business is up hollows like the one at Ten Mile. When we don't help these people solve their problems—we're cutting off our bread and butter.

Perfume Ads Promise Everything

My mail contains all from soup to nuts, and until this week, I thought I'd read just about everything carried by Uncle Sam's mailmen.

But in comes, to me, at that, a direct mail perfume offer—and you ought to read the ads.

Ladies, these perfumes can do ANYTHING. The way I figure it, if we scented the United Nations with this stuff, then the whole world situation would become one great big love-feast. Mamie would be dancing with Bulganin, and Nehru would welcome all Pakistanis into his bosom.

For example, here's what the firm says of a perfume called "Flaming Desire."

"Try a few drops of Flaming Desire . . . A little behind your ears . . . a little in your hair . . . and a wee bit more in some secret place . . . It will give you that wonderful feeling all over . . . Flaming Desire . . . This powerful perfume can give you that extra push with a man . . . that will make him feel differently about you . . . Rush your order for Flaming Desire."

And of "The Devil's Secret" (another perfume) the firm writes:

"Can You Win Him? Do you have it in you to be a Devil with your man? Try this new perfume . . . The Devil's Secret . . . How would you like to stoke the flames of love . . . so that your man would want you . . . How long have you longed to know the Devil's Secret? Now is the time to try . . . to learn if everything they say is true."

And of "Flame," the ad says:

"FLAME . . . have you ever been in a Flame of love . . . Do you know the uncontrollable passion that can be released when two lovers meet . . . the happiness that can be yours in your lover's arms . . . Flame perfume . . . was inspired by an exotic woman who had men striving for her favors . . . They called her Flame because when a man was with Flame he was hers . . . Why not try this perfume and see what's in store for you."

Therein, men, are some of the reasons why the women are always three or four steps ahead of us. What with perfume like this available to them—ain't nobody got a chance!

Fishing in Cold Florida

Just back from a "cold" Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jones. They've been spending a month there with their son, Clabourne, Bonita Springs.

According to the Jones', Florida's recent cold spell was the worst in forty years. Their son lost several palm trees and other valuable shrubbery at his motel.

The freeze, however, didn't seem to detract from the fishing—the Jones' report that they caught about fifty pounds.

LETTER

Ten Mile Road Is Need Of Repairs

Dear Editor,

The cold, freezing weather has hurt the people of Ten Mile. The only road we have is in the creek. Now the creek is frozen over and it is almost impossible to get out, except by walking. The boys who go to Buckhorn High School had to miss school recently, because their jeep got stuck in the ice. Where a jeep can't go, nothing else can! It just looks like the county has neglected this road long enough. The children who attend Ten Mile School have to walk from one-half mile to 1½ miles each way.

When the creek gets up, they just can't get there. I just wish the County Judge and the other county officials had to travel this road every day. They would surely fix a road then.

I would like to send a picture of the ice banks, then people could see what a road we do have on Ten Mile.

Our schoolhouse needs to be repaired, but the school officials just can't seem to get around to fixing it. The building leaks on one whole side, the seats almost fall over if you touch them, and the window frames are giving away. I believe the reason why they don't come and fix this is because of the bad road. They have worked on almost all the other county roads—we (the people of Ten Mile) think it is about time for them to start to work on our road. We just can't get out to work in the winter time.

PAPER PULPIT

NON-SECTARIAN FOR THE UNCHURCHED

For thousand of years mankind has had a book that truly describes outer space, the beings of outer space, their invasions of earth, and the entrance of certain men into outer space. We have, indeed, a man of outer space. It is the Bible.

The Bible says that all matter used to be one great mass or sea of undifferentiated substance, but that God caused chemical action, light and heat, and put space between huge pieces or clouds of substance. Read Gen. 1:2-8. The word "firmament" is the Bible's first mention of space; it starts right out on the subject of space. Then it describes how the waters under the firmament, one cloud of swirling substance, destined to become the earth as we know it, cooled down into land and sea. Then God created vegetable and animal life on the earth.

You cannot find anywhere a description of the origin of the universe that is so harmonious with what astronomers tell us, and yet so suitable for men of all backgrounds and ages and kinds. The Bible is indeed the space book. You ought to read it and see!

—W. T. Barr

Folks, to all of you that sent me greetings both Christmas and New Year, I want to say that I really appreciated them. I wish I had the space and time to acknowledge each and every one personally. I am sure that you will accept in this column, my sincere wishes to you all the same as you sent to me. May the Lord bless you and share his blessing on you.

Christmas time, hunting time, both deer quail and rabbit, will almost make you forget that we are not in another world. Now that hunting seasons are all over, maybe I can get down to earth again. I am sure that many of you have a lot to be thankful for during the past year, not only of your hunting and fishing trips, but many other things that makes up all walks of life.

Many of you also had your share of troubles, that is to be expected, because we know that we must share the bitter with the sweet things all along the life span of man, that goes for the women as well.

Old Times

Had a good chat with Ernie Armstrong and George Herd few days ago. George had just got out of the hospital, where he had spent some several days because he must have been recalling his more youthful days. George was trimming up his trees when he lost a hold and came tumbling down, from what I can learn it was almost the last tumble for him.

Good to see you out again, George. In their conversation they were talking about in the old days how tomatoes grew wild near the stable, also eating ground cherries, turnips, chestnuts, cucumbers, and etc.

One remarked that he believed that people years ago felt closer to their fellowmen than they do today. This I would say is so true. Both George and Ernie referred to the almanac before leaving, it looks like we are in for a bad spell of weather before spring breaks.

From what I have seen so far since this chat with them, I will have to place more faith in the Ladies Birthday Almanac also. Speaking of old times, I knew a family, yes very well by the name of Ray among them I can recall such names as Manuel, Wallace, Quinton, their mother and father. Well I can recall of all the happy moments I have spent in their midst.

Of course they have wandered from the hills of Leslie County many years ago, which they called home. Not too long ago I heard from this family, as they state it they are still country boys, ridge runners or what ever people want to call them, but their heart is here in the mountains where they were raised on corn bread and trouble. I would say this would be a good diet as long as it will produce people such as the Ray family.

Yes folks, they are old timers, but living in another city. Before modern plumbing, bath rooms and etc, we use to call it an outhouse or privy, along came the slop jar, which was the

New Interest In Kentucky's John Marshall Harlan

On December 7, 1923, Gov. Edwin P. Morrow, then president of the Kentucky Historical Society, presided at the presentation of the portrait of John Marshall Harlan, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States and native Kentuckian. The portrait was painted by a prominent Louisville artist, Miss Sophie DeBunne Gray, for the Baldwin Law Book Co. of Chicago. Morrow had persuaded the company to donate the portrait of Harlan to the society to hang in its extensive museum in the Old Capitol Building.

It has been 46 years since Harlan's death. Historians are now beginning to study the life of this eminent jurist and to attempt to assess his place in American history. On the west coast, John S. Goff of the University of Southern California recently completed a study of Harlan which was published in The Register of the Kentucky Historical Society, the Commonwealth's official historical journal. Alan F. Weston of the Yale University Law School in Connecticut is writing a full-length biography of the justice.

Mobile X-Ray Units Serves You - Use It!

The big white trailer, the tuberculosis X-ray unit manned by the Kentucky State Department of Health and donated by Elk lodges of Kentucky, is a familiar and pleasing sight to Perry Countians. For several years it has come to park on a Hazard street and has welcomed all comers with a free chest X-ray. It has been to all Perry Countians, and especially to those who have been reassured or warned in time about tuberculosis, a sign of the efficiency and goodwill of our welfare and fraternal organizations.

The trailer is coming again to Perry County next week. This time the unit will be more efficient than ever—but it will not welcome all comers with an X-ray. A new policy for tuberculosis X-rays is being announced all over the United States. Emphasis will be placed on reaching persons who are most likely to have tuberculosis. X-rays will be given to anyone over 40. They will be given persons under 20 years of age only if they have positive readings on tuberculin skin tests. According to Dr. Collins, Chairman of Perry County's Board of Health, a positive skin test does not mean that a person has tuberculosis but that he has been exposed to someone who has. Therefore, the most recent program for tuberculosis case-finding calls for X-raying of persons with positive old day version of it, today they call it cabinet, regardless of what name they give it as long as they keep making it. It is still a long trek to the out house when it is two above zero.

Speaking of The Weather

Yes, it is a good subject to talk about now, since hunting season is over yet too early to talk about fishing, but not too early to be thinking about it.

Our old friend White Jim Combs came by few mornings ago, made this statement. "Boys I have got out my ice skates, after looking out this morning I am sure that we are in for an old time winter again." Yes, an old fashioned type one, someone asked him what kind of skates he had. Jim replied what the devil do you think any other kind could be used in weather like this.

Jim says he did not have any tallow, but he used oil to grease his skates with. He vows and declares that he will cut a figure 8 as neat as any eighteen year old will. Jim, you must remember that you have about two 88's in front of you. I will agree that you will be willing to try, and without a doubt you could do it.

Folks, to me that is pretty good logic for a long life. More power to you White Jim, along about this time we talked to another that is no new comer in our generation, none other than Jim Cole. He told us about during the cold winters how people cut the ice out of the river, stored it in houses built for the purpose, then used it the following summer.

Yes Jim, I can recall a house similar to the one you are talking about that belonged to my grandmother. How well the many spankings I have had because I left the door about half open, or I didn't put the coffee sacks and saw dust back over the ice that was stored there. Jim also tells me that people that didn't live close to the rivers, had their own way of making their ice for summer use. They made wooden troughs pour water into it and let it freeze over night, then store it. It's no wonder we have all the modern electric devices that we have today. We just wisd ourselves up to get out of a lot of hard work.

Sometimes I wonder if we gained too much on the work side, maybe physical yes, what about the mental side, worrying about taxes, trying to keep up with neighbors buying a new auto and etc. Yes, we have come along way in the past few years, from a single barrel shotgun, to an automatic, from the hook and line to the reel that almost does the job by itself according to the makers.

Yes folks, times have changed from the outhouse days, to automatic heat, thermostats and etc. Not bad I would say, but we will never forget the days of yesterday. It still must be a good subject, because if it wasn't. Radio and TV wouldn't keep playing it up. Now its missiles, H bombs, going to the moon, who wants my reservation on the first trip to the moon? It's yours free for the asking.

Brashear Urges Wool Producers To Get Best Possible Price

The 1958 wool incentive program recently announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be similar to the program in effect during the current marketing year, according to Green B. Brashear, Chairman, Perry Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

As announced earlier, the shorn wool incentive price in 1958 will be 62 cents per pound, as during the past three years. The payment rate for shorn wool will be the percentage required to bring the national average price received by all producers for sales during the 1958 marketing year up to the 62-cent incentive level. The payment rate for the 1956 marketing year was 40 percent.

Producers who market wool during the 1958 marketing year will be eligible for a payment which will be an amount equal to the percentage rate times the proceeds from the sale of their wool. Payments will be made on the 1958 wool in the summer of 1959, when the tabulation of producer returns is completed.

Mr. Brashear urges wool producers to get the best possible price for selling their wool. This is important to the grower because, under the percentage method of payment, the higher the price the individual producer gets for his wool in the market, the larger his incentive payment is. This method is designed to encourage producers to do the best possible job of marketing their wool.

The payment method on lambs under the 1958 program will also be the same as under the current 1957 program. Each producer who owns lambs for 30 days or more and sells the lambs unshorn will be eligible for a payment. The payment will be made on the weight increase of the lambs during the period of each producer's ownership.

Payments to producers who buy unshorn lambs and then shear them will be subject to a downward adjustment in any shorn wool incentive payment they apply for. The payments on unshorn lambs will be a fixed rate per hundred weight of live lambs sold. For 1956 marketings, the payment rate on lambs was 71 cents per hundredweight. This price was calculated on the basis of the average shorn wool incentive payment, the average weight of wool per hundred pounds of lamb, and the value of lamb wool in relation to shorn wool.

Mr. Brashear again reminds wool growers "to keep all sales records in a safe place." The accounts of sale must have the information needed to support the producer's payment application.

Sermon of the Week The Wise Man

By Winn T. Barr

"Who is as the wise man? And who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? A man's wisdom maketh his face to shine, and the boldness (bravery) of his face shall be changed" (Eccl. 8:1). Man is the only animal who laughs. Man is the only animal who weeps. Man is the only animal who prays. Man is the only animal who walks fully erect, who makes pictures, who reasons, who has a long infancy. Man is the only animal who uses tools, who can invent, who writes a language. Man is the only animal who is proud, who can make progress, who guides his own destiny. Man is the only animal who is penitent, or needs to be. Man is a knowing creature, who is as the wise man, who knows the interpretation of a thing? The wise man is the one who can interpret things. It is man's business to be wise and to philosophize. Philosophy is good, for we are bound to interpret life. We are the only animal who does. We were made like God to know.

Therefore, we honor the wise man. Who is like him? He is better than the artist. He is better than the mechanic. He is better than the merchant. He is better than the farmer. He is better than the soldier. Look how important science is today! The power goes to the scientist and the wise man molds the race. Therefore, let us have intellect and science.

The danger of television is that we'll stop thinking. The T.V. set can well be dubbed the "lazy box." It hinders reading and piano practice. Our children, if not controlled, will grow up with eyes as big as grapefruit and brains the size of peanuts. The American public is doped by entertainment—only faintly hearing the voice of God on the outskirts of consciousness. Men were made to think—and think we'd better. Thinking is good for your looks. "A man's wisdom maketh his face to shine, and the boldness of his face shall be changed." To be beautiful but dumb is really impossible. There is no beauty like that of intelligence. The glow of understanding is more important than lipstick. The glow of moral character will beautify any face. Benevolence is better than rouge. It's like an angelic halo. You can't be good-looking unless you are good-thinking.

Finally, brethren, whatever things are true, whatever things are honest, whatever things are just, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Phil. 4:8). I'm glad we have education: public, higher, and Christian education. One of the troubles with our evangelism is that there is so little intellectual content in it. Let us have emotion, but let it be controlled by thought. It is possible to love evil. We neglect the up-and-out. The man in fine linen may have more need of Christ than the man in rags. The Gospel is addressed to Greek as well as Barbarian, wise as well as unwise. Let's stop judging spiritual condition by clothes! One soul is as valuable as another, but the up-and-out may have more potential for fruit than the down-and-out.

Weakheadedness blights our entire culture. One of the troubles with our age is that its values are upside down. In Los Angeles there are 167 Presbyterian churches. All those ministers and their assistants and staffs together do not draw as much money in salary as one Tennessee truck-driver in a burlesque-Elvis Presley-Sad commentary on our age! The time has come to speak up for values and get our senses back. We're majoring on minors, and minor on majors! I'm glad the church stands for knowledge and education.

Who is as the wise man? And who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? A man's wisdom maketh his face to shine, and the boldness of his face shall be changed. The light of the world can put a light on your face. True science will never lead you away from God. We are not afraid of science. Nature reveals God and whets the appetite for the data that God has revealed in His Book. Come to the Book and learn. Come to Jesus and learn. Be a real man, not a play-boy. Those who sat in darkness have seen a great light. It's great to see the light.

Do you have a face that sees? Have you ever noticed something lacking in the face that does not see—the face of a blind man? The features may be ever so regular, but the light of recognition isn't there. Does the light of recognition rest on your face? Do you want to be really good looking? Look at the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. You can't be good looking without looking! Come to the Lord Jesus. He can make you see. The best beauty treatment is the sight treatment. When you see the light, it puts the light on your face!

And that in turn will put it in other faces around you. The light keeps reflecting and reflecting—on and on it goes. Mass evangelism can never supplant personal evangelism. One person communicating the Divine presence to another—only thus does the work of God move on.

A man looked through the window of the China Inland Mission Hospital. He was dull of face, hardly seeing-with cataraacts on both eyes. The surgeon operated successfully and he went away with the joy of seeing. A few weeks later a happy smiling face was peering through that same window. A knock came at the door. The nurse opened to find the happy cataraact patient back again. He hadn't returned for a check-up. He had a rope in his hand. And hanging on to the rope were forty other men who could hardly see for cataraacts! That's our business. Catch on friend to my rope, and I'll lead you to the door of Dr. Jesus, and He will make you see. And that will make you beautiful! "Who is as the wise man? And who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? A man's wisdom maketh his face to shine, and the boldness of his face shall be changed."

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God. God can change things. You need a change. Has He changed you?

Caney Junior College Students Perform Shakespeare's Hamlet

Caney Junior College student actors presented Shakespeare's Hamlet last Thursday night to its students and visitors, and Friday afternoon to high school and upper grades pupils at Pippa Passes.

This is the fourth performance of what many consider Shakespeare's greatest play, in alternate years with other of his finest works.

The cast of characters was: Prince Hamlet—Palmer Lowe, of Eastern.

King Claudius—Paul Waddles, of Hindman.

The Queen, Hamlet's Mother—Lee Esther Perry.

Ghost of Hamlet's Father—Dennie Tuttle, of Topmost.

Horatio—Pete Carrol, Vico. Laertes—Gerald Adkins, Garrett.

Polonius—Earl Begley, Yerkes.

Ophelia—Thelmarie Thorsberry, Pippa Passes.

Marcellus—Ralph Howard, Hindman.

Bernardo—Robert Smith, Hindman.

Rosencrantz—Afton Bates, Kite.

Guildenstern—Curtis Haddix, Kodak.

Players—Darrel Smith, Hindman, Sherrill Boggs, Garrett and Tandy Moore, Garrett.

Grave-diggers—John M. Cornett, Hindman and Ray Bickerstaff, Whitesburg.

The largest and most difficult part was, of course, that of the young Prince Hamlet, played by Palmer Lowe. Informed by his Father's Ghost that King Claudius had murdered to gain the throne, young Hamlet seeks to avenge his Father and make known the present king's crime.

Partly to confirm the ghost's testimony, he has the murder acted out in a "play-within-the-play," and observes gull in his uncle's face. After many difficulties he does revenge his father's death, but the Queen and Hamlet himself are also killed.

Earl Begley, in playing the part of Polonius, adviser to King Claudius, was thought by many to have "stolen the show." His part was effectively and humorously done. Also the "Players" provided much comedy, for Shakespeare mingled tragedy with laughter in this play.

The costumes and lights of Caney's Cushing Hall are renowned in this area for excellence, and contributed much to the success of the play.

C. R. Mooney

Damon Halcombs, son of Harrison Halcombs, of Slem, and Miss Vernie Caudill, daughter of Spencer Caudill, Viper, were married Jan. 15 at Clintwood, Va.

There seemed to have been an outrageous jump up in Hargis Callahan's electricity bill this past two months. To be exact it went from $12.00 to $34.00. We can figure out but one thing that Hargis has been doing an awful lot of baking since his wife has been teaching school. We just have to take one look at him to know

We are glad to have Herman L. Cornett home on furlough from the Navy for thirty days. Herman Luther is the son of Ray Cornett of Slem. He is now spending his time visiting friends and relatives on Leatherwood.

Harold Callahan, another of our Leatherwood boys, is home on furlough from the Navy. Harold is the son of Cully Callahan, who moved from Slem twelve years ago to Indiana.

Sorry, Ritt Callahan's grandfather passed away last Tuesday. He was Clint Campbell of Line Fork, Kentucky. He was over eighty years old.

New Firm Opens

Mr. Edgar Dixon and Mr. Edd Farler have opened a new TV and radio repair shop in Slem. They are located next to Ison's store.

Kenneth Loudy is now a deputy clerk. He also has hunting and fishing license for sale.

Mr. Noah Couch, Bill Couch's father, was honored with a big birthday dinner. A large number of friends and relatives were present. About one hundred estimated, which included a number of prominent Hazard citizens. A large birthday cake with 89 candles and all the trimmings. Mr. Couch is a well known and respected Perry county citizen.

A new baby girl has arrived at the home of Delmer Cornette, details later.

Fire Destroys Church

Kenneth and Christine Rowdy witnessed the burning of the Mt. Olivet Church, Daisy, Sunday afternoon around 2 p.m. According to information they received, the fire started from an overheated furnace.

An attempt was made to fight the fire which proved futile.

The blaze did not consume the building so very quick, and allowed them to remove the piano, all of the pews and the books. They were also able to remove most of the doors.

Donations are now being taken for the construction of a new church. The pastor is the Rev. Denton, of Tennessee.

New Teacher

There has been a new teacher at the Beech Fork School since Christmas. She is Mrs. Hargis Callahan, of Slem. Harold Halcomb, the former teacher, is now employed by the Blue Diamond Coal Co. as a book-keeper.

Ritter Solves Problem Of Fifth Man As Bulldogs Win, 88-48

A two month search for that "right combination" came to a successful climax. Tuesday night, for Hazard High School Coach Goebel Ritter as his Bulldogs clicked with the perfection of a transatlantic card sharp entertaining royalty to dump the Napier Navajos, 88-48, at Memorial gym.

Napier Grads Drop Jaycees, 49-45

The M. C. Napier graduates overcame a third quarter deficit, Monday night, in the opening round of Independent League play here, defeating the Jaycees, 49-45.

Napier Graduates were behind 29-27 at the end of the third. High for the Jaycees was Wells with 22 points; tops for the Graduates was Barker with 12 points.

a fifth man since the outset of the season, Ritter got a pleasant and rewarding surprise from the floor work of Guard Carlos Gibson, a reserve starting his first game last night. In addition, the 5-11 Gibson hit for 12 points.

Unfortunately for the Navajos, they ran into a Hazard team that was giving evidence of approaching their peak for the season.

The Bulldogs broke the game open late in the first quarter as they took a 19-11 lead on crisps coming out of fast break engineered by Bobby Biker, top scorer for the evening with 17 points, and Gibson.

Hazard's new guard-combination never gave the Navajo defenses a chance to get organized.

The game was Hazard's best of the season. Ken Cobb, Don Smith and Joe Baker controlled the backboards and were in offensive positions for the fast break only a fraction of a second after taking the rebounds.

High for Napier was Center John Layne with 10 points.

Testimony Doesn't Testify

By A. C. Grider

Denominational preachers present an amazing spectacle as they try to put across their theories of salvation. One "proves" that you don't have to be baptized by citing seven passages of scripture. Not a SINGLE ONE of the passages cited even MENTIONS baptism! That is like a lawyer "proving" by seven witnesses that a bank has been robbed when not a SINGLE ONE of the seven witnesses even MENTIONS a bank!

A man cites SEVEN passages of scripture to "prove" that you don't have to be baptized. But EVERY ONE of the passages concerned events BEFORE Christ commanded baptism! That is like trying to "prove" by SEVEN men that you don't need a driver's license to drive a car, when EVERY ONE of the men did all of their driving BEFORE the law required a driver's license!

Many say he can cite several more passages to "prove" that you do not have to be baptized. But when they are cited, it can be observed that 1. The verses do not mention baptism, 2. They concern people who have already been baptized.

Suppose I should say I was going to PROVE that you did not have to repent and cited verses that did not mention repentance. Would you say I was dealing fairly with the proposition? Of course not. Suppose I should say I was going to PROVE that you did not have to have faith and cited verses that did not mention faith. Would you say I was dealing fairly with the proposition? Of course not. Suppose I should say I was going to PROVE that you did not have to be baptized and cited verses that did not mention baptism. Would you say I was dealing fairly with the proposition? Of course not. The way to prove that you do or do not have to be baptized is to read the verses that mention baptism and see what the bible says about it. The way to prove that you do or do not have to be baptized is to read the verses that mention baptism and see what the bible says about it.

Please turn and read Matt. 28:19; Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; Acts 22:16; Rom. 6:3-5; Gal. 3:27; 1 Cor. 12:13; 1 Pet. 3:21 and Col. 2:11-13. In these verses you can see what part baptism plays in your salvation. Why would one want to prove you don't have to be baptized by verses that do not mention baptism? Because he CAN'T prove it by the verses that mention baptism. You had better read your bibles and do what your bible says. If your bible says be baptized INTO Christ (Gal. 3:27 and Rom. 6:3-5) you had better do it. Attend Lothair Church of Christ and listen to the radio Sunday Morning at 7:45.
